I am a Realtor serving Southern Maryland, most of my sales are in Charles County. This tax increase threatens to disproportionately harm first-time buyers, working families, seniors, and households already struggling with a turbulent economy, high interest rates, and limited inventory. At a time when we should be promoting opportunity and stability, this measure does the opposite. I urge you reconsider this proposal and explore broad-based taxes as a more equitable way to support county revenues, without placing the burden on those trying to achieve the American Dream of homeownership. Respectfully, Ruth Williams
