

Karen Parker has worked as an Apprenticeship Navigator with the State of Maryland Office of Apprenticeship for the past two years. She speaks with businesses about building their talent with starting an apprenticeship program. She also shares information with job seekers regarding apprentices opportunities.

Prior to joining the Office of Apprenticeship she worked for 20 years as an experienced full life cycle recruiter, career coach, and human resources professional supporting public & private sector, healthcare, nonprofit, and government contracting organizations. She specialized in connecting candidates—from recent college graduates to experienced professionals—with meaningful career opportunities.
